

Dog Bite Prevention

There is nothing sweeter than seeing a child connect with a dog. They'll grow up together and be best friends. But what happens when your dog bites? Usually the dog gets put to sleep and the child gets stitches. The child may then develop a fear of dogs and is sad his buddy is dead.

Bites can be prevented. It's up to us as the adults to educate ourselves on body language and understand what we are seeing. We must actively supervise our dogs and kids and educate our children on the proper way to play, pet, and handle a dog.
